The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ

On the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread, when they sacrificed the Passover lamb, Jesus' disciples said to him, "Where do you want us to go and prepare for you to eat the Passover?" He sent two of his disciples and said to them, "Go into the city and a man will meet you, carrying a jar of water. Follow him. Wherever he enters, say to the master of the house, 'The Teacher says, "Where is my guest room where I may eat the Passover with my disciples?"' Then he will show you a large upper room furnished and ready. Make the preparations for us there." The disciples then went off, entered the city, and found it just as he had told them; and they prepared the Passover.

While they were eating, he took bread, said the blessing, broke it, gave it to them, and said, "Take it; this is my body." Then he took a cup, gave thanks, and gave it to them, and they all drank from it. He said to them, "This is my blood of the covenant, which will be shed for many. Amen, I say to you, I shall not drink again the fruit of the vine until the day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God." Then, after singing a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

“And yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.”

Matthew 6:29

A flower so full of color, aflame in red, yellow and blue, points proudly to the sky, its glory God-directed.

Native to South Africa, a tropical plant favored in Brazil, in many lands and households, official flower of Los Angeles.

Sterlitzia reginae, its name, from Queen Charlotte, Duchess of Mecklenberg-Sterlitz, wife of George III of England.

George thought her to lack beauty when first he met her, bride-to-be. Her beauty became evident, this flower preserving her memory.

As a couple, they were loyal, fertile in bearing fifteen, frugal in household, her court named “The Nunnery.”

Charlotte brought beauty where it was lacking, in hospitals, orphanages, patronage of the talented – Mozart, Bach among them.

Abbot Barnabas Senecal, O.S.B.
