Christ Preaching

Jesus began speaking in the synagogue, saying: "Today this Scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing." And all spoke highly of him and were amazed at the gracious words that came from his mouth. They also asked, "Isn't this the son of Joseph?" He said to them, "Surely you will quote me this proverb, 'Physician, cure yourself', and say, 'Do here in your native place the things that we heard were done in Capernaum.'" and he said, "Amen, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own native place. Indeed, I tell you, there were many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah when the sky was closed for three and a half years and a severe famine spread over the entire land. It was to none of these that Elijah was sent, but only to a widow in Zarephath in the land of Sidon. Again, there were many lepers in Israel during the time of Elisha the prophet; yet not one of them was cleansed, but only Naaman the Syrian." When the people in the synagogue heard this, they were all filled with fury. They rose up, drove him out of town, and led him to the brow of the hill on which their town had been built, to hurl him down headlong. But Jesus passed through the midst of them and went away.

St. Joseph,
Husband of the Virgin Mary,
Feast, March 19

“Whatever your task, put yourselves into it as done for the Lord.”
Colossians, 3:23

Joseph, a noble man, quiet and caring, Worked as a carpenter to provide for mother and child, his own by God’s will, forever grateful, in a home filled with love.

He shared his talent for making things with Him who had helped in making all, surely an exercise in humility for each, this act of driving a nail into wood.

Jean Charlot watched Benedictine brothers pray and work, likened them to Joseph, created a fresco on a chapel wall, the brothers’ work done, brought to the Lord.

Jesus is seen with hammer in hand, perhaps uniquely, as a left-hander, a tribute to all so blessed and able, skillful and happy in his trade.

Nails and wood, things made to sell for home and shop and school; nails and wood, now a support, later the tools of his pain and death.

In our labor we give our all, repeating what we have learned, being shown new ways to work, mentored like the Lord, and by the Lord.

Abbot Barnabas Senecal, OSB
